87 The background display layer 102 comprises a conventional matrix display, for example a passive or active liquid crystal element, which can be changed electrically from a transparent state into another colored state, for example into a white state. The layer 102 is preferably constructed as a matrix display so that each pixel can be controlled ~~to be~~ to be transparent or white individually. The layer 102 is preferably transparent when no voltage is being applied to the electrodes. In a variant, the pixels can take on another color or different levels of gray or shades of color instead of, or in addition to, white.

Please replace the Abstract in its entirety with the substitute Abstract shown in the following separate sheet:
